
ABSTRACT

B [0042] An improved rocker panel part having a substantially planar top show surface joined with a substantially convex side show surface by a juncture or hollow-channeled reinforcing rib between the top and side show surfaces. A clip house mounting structure joins the rocker panel to a vehicle and connects to the juncture or hollow-channeled reinforcing rib. Increased flexibility and minimal sagging of the rocker panel part have been achieved as a result.
